LORE

Soong-Type Android

Male Identity

Biography

Lieutenant Commander Data of the U.S.S. Enterprise-D is a legend in Starfleet but few outside of his friends and interested specialists know details about his origins. Those that do sometimes miss references to Data's "brother," the sociopathic android named Lore. Dr. Noonien Soong built Lore before Data but when the others in the Omicron Theta colony complained that Lore's behavior was hurtful and upsetting Soong deactivated the android. Soon afterwards, the colony was destroyed by the Crystalline Entity (an event that Lore secretly had some role in) and it was years before Data and Lore were reunited.

Though antisocial in the extreme and cruelly amoral, Lore is actually more human in his psychology than his brother. He has strong emotions and is driven by them more than logic. His superior strength, intelligence, and longevity mean that twists these feelings into anger and violence, but the moral questions posed by these two artificial minds is intriguing to say the least.
