

SEEKS-NEW-HORIZONS [MAJOR NPC]

Seeks-New-Horizons has elaborately dyed feathers and a beak sharper and straighter than most of his kind. He looks for new opportunities wherever they arise, and is well-versed in diplomacy and political maneuvers, especially in the interstellar arena. He hopes to improve the lot of his species. If that involves the occasional underhanded tactic, so be it. He is patient, however, and open to long-term plans.

VALUES:

- I'm Sure We Can Make A Deal
- If It's New, I Want It
- So What If We Omitted A Few Details
- Look For The Long-Term Gain

TRAITS: Pranir. The Pranir have a serpentine body with four arms (one pair on top of the other pair), each with a hand with four mutually-opposed fingers. They have binocular eyes and ears like an owl, and the snout is tipped with a strong beak that functions like a horn. However, the mouth is jawed, with omnivore teeth. A pair of feathery crests runs along the head like parallel Mohawk haircuts. They have brown feathers covering their body. They are egg-layers. Their language includes simultaneous sound and gestures, and only nestlings speak without gesticulation. They are traders by nature, and are adept at smuggling.
