

VIRISTIA DELNAR

Trill

Female

Trill Science Ministry

Biography

The Trill Science Ministry is one of the premier institutes of higher learning within the Federation. With a reputation that is on par with the Vulcan Science Academy, the school excels in many fields of study, specifically in the field of subspace spatial anomalies. With many of their students applying to be joined after graduation, and many of their staff being joined, the knowledge within its halls literally spans millennia. These scientists are on the cutting edge of what's new in the galaxy, and are excited about what that entails.

Viristia Delnar is one such scientist, trying to establish a serious career in spatial anomalies. The broad subject fits her, though she particularly enjoys the study of dark matter nebulae. Delnar is, by choice, an unjoined Trill. She never thought to apply to become joined, and therefore is ostracized by her colleagues.

Many of Delnar's colleagues do not take her seriously, as to them, she doesn't have the amount of experience many of them have, and they find her unambitious for not trying to 'better herself' through joining. Because of this, Delnar has had to prove herself her entire career, out-performing her competition by being smarter and more driven. She feels that if she can be an expert in everything, then she can prove her entire society wrong. That she is worth something, unjoined and all.

Trill Science Ministry

The Trill Science Ministry is one of the foremost schools for science in the quadrant. Even the Vulcan Science Academy has noted their specialty and expertise for subspace anomalies. The drive to succeed and be the best is instilled in every aspect of the Ministry. The competitive and ambitious students of the Trill Science Ministry are famous for their ruthless and cut-throat tactics. This attitude has been instilled in every Trill from a very young age, as each is vying for the opportunity to become joined with a symbiont. The staff and educators do not outright approve of these tactics, but do not discourage them, for many of them are joined, and report their observations and grades to the Trill Symbiosis Commission.

The program can be a hot bed for corruption, if you so choose. With the prime opportunities for moving forward, it would not be unheard of for sabotage and subterfuge to be used to succeed. The trick? Not getting caught.
