

AXANAR

ANY ERA

The Axanar (or sometimes called Axanarri) are one of the first alien species encountered by Earth Starfleet. They are androgynous. Some hostile species forcibly harvest triglobulin from the Axanar. They are long-lived, with some living to 400 years old. They eventually joined the Federation.

EXAMPLE VALUE: Not All Aliens Are To Be Trusted.

- ATTRIBUTES: +1 Fitness, +1 Insight, +1 Reason
- TRAIT: Axanar. The Axanar are androgynous. Their blood is green. They produce triglobulin from their zymuth gland, and the substance is an aphrodisiac for some species, and also has medicinal uses. They prefer a nitrogen-methane atmosphere. They have a long lifespan, with the average being 400 years.
- TALENTS: The character receives access to the following talents:

I LIVED THROUGH THAT

REQUIREMENT: Axanar, or Gamemaster's permission.

You have lived centuries already, and your knowledge of the past reflects that. For each century you lived through (up to 4 centuries), you may declare you were there at a pivotal historical event during that century. You are considered to have a Focus for knowledge related to that historical event. You may leave these undeclared until you need them, but once chosen, it is a permanent decision for your character.

TRIGLOBULIN EXPERTISE

REQUIREMENT: Axanar.

You were taught early on about the uniqueness of your Axanar physiology, and also how triglobulin affects other species. Once per mission, if you are able to use a sickbay, you may create an Advantage for free, related to a medical use of triglobulin.
