

CHANDIR

THE NEXT GENERATION ERA ONLY

The Chandir are a species originating from Chand Aad, first encountered by the Federation in 2327. They are frequently found near Cardassian and Federation space, but are politically non-affiliated with either. They are a musical people. They are also called 'Tailheads', meant originally by other races as a pejorative nickname, but the Chandir have embraced the term for themselves, wearing the name as a badge of pride. Some Chandir have joined Starfleet.

EXAMPLE VALUE: Names Will Never Hurt Me.

- ATTRIBUTES: +1 Control, +1 Fitness, +1 Presence
- TRAIT: Chandir. The Chandir have cranial trunks that extend from the rear of their heads, similar to tails. The trunks are muscular, and full of sinus chambers that can be resonated to amplify their voices. The face and trunk ridges have airways that can be opened or closed, making the trunks into musical instruments.
- TALENTS: The character receives access to the following talents:

CHANDIR VOICE

REQUIREMENT: Chandir.

Your cranial trunk can amplify your voice, and allow you to create unique music. You are an expert in this regard. When you perform an Opposed Task with Presence, to talk over someone or to impress them, add a bonus d20 to your roll.

IMPROVED BREATHING PHYSIOLOGY

REQUIREMENT: Chandir.

The Chandir are able to breathe through multiple airways throughout their cranial trunk, and have better developed lung capacity. Some Chandir have built up their endurance to an extraordinary level. When performing a Task that involves Fitness where you must hold your breath or test your endurance, if you succeed, gain 1 bonus Momentum.
