

QULDUN-CLASS BIRD-OF-PREY

Klingon Starship

Entered Service: 2311

The QulDun-class raider is a new bird-of-prey for a new century. Updating the tried and true B'rel-class spaceframe to the 24th century with new technologies, the QulDun class is slightly different from the B'rel class and exhibits classic Klingon designs. In a sign of changing times, there are no feathered designs on the wings but instead the crest of the Klingon Empire. The QulDun class is larger than the B'rel-class design and its variants, both in the larger bridge section and the larger main hull. Armed with modern weapons and carrying a crew trained in modern tactics, the QulDun raiders are a newly-sharpened knife at the throat of the Empire's enemies.
