

WAIRARA

ANY ERA

The Wairara are a warp-capable race of engineers who base their faith on The Great Race, the belief that overcoming constant challenges drives the spirit of life and advancement. With that, everything they do is considered a race; whether it is who can cook the fastest meal for new guests, or who can speak at the most rapid and succinct rate to get the point across. One of their longest-held and most cherished traditions when meeting a new species is to race them. Their god of engineering is named Zun.
