BAJORAN

In the middle years of the 23rd Century, the Terran Empire reached the planet of Bajor. Seeing the world's rich resources and strategic location near the Cardassian Union, the Empire quickly occupied the world. The Imperial Starfleet easily defeated Bajor's forces, and all Bajorans who fought back were rounded up and publicly executed. Over the next half-century, over a hundred million Bajorans would be killed. The Bajoran religion was heavily suppressed, with all suspected priests killed and all icons and relics seized and destroyed, including all known Orbs of the Prophets. Eventually, the Klingon-Cardassian Alliance freed Bajor from its occupation. Grateful for their liberation, Bajor immediately joined the alliance, enslaving any remaining Terrans and putting them to work rebuilding their world. With the aid of the Cardassians, the Bajorans constructed a space station around their world to aid in mining and the restoration of their world. Terrans from adjacent sectors were relocated to the station, Terok Nor, to perform hard labour in its uridium processing facilities. Many Bajorans relished the opportunity to repay the Terrans for generations of suffering. In 2372, the station was seized by Terran rebels, who threatened to irradiate the planet's surface if Bajor took any aggressive action. After Alliance attempts to retake the station failed, Bajor reluctantly accepted the rebel's presence.

TALENTS: The character receives access to the following talents:

FAITH OF THE HEART

REQUIREMENT: Bajoran, or Gamemaster's Permission

When things look their worst, you can fall back on your belief in the Prophets. Once per mission, you can re-roll all the dice in a Task. However, you cannot apply Focuses to this re-roll.

FAITHLESS

REQUIREMENT: Bajoran, or Gamemaster's Permission

After your world's occupation, you have lost your faith in the Prophets and hold few things sacred, being either highly rational or deeply cynical. You may challenge a Value to gain a point of Determination twice during a mission rather than just once.
